

iPads Away

After many technical issues and prolonged problem solving by numerous people, we finally have our new set of iPads up and working. The wireless network now extends across the school and students in all classes are able to use these handy tools to help them along with their learning. Mr Clarke's class have really been taking advantage of the extended technology to broaden their research and share some newfound knowledge with each other.

A big thank you to Miss Metcalf who persevered through thick and thin to make this happen.
